SOCIETY Merry Go-Round

by MARJORIE I. ULEN

We, of the TSD family, have been busy with sad adieu to our former chief, erudite L. Alex Wilson... who has covered himself with Printers' ink glory in the brief years that he has been a part of our community. Leaving to assume his new post... editor-in-chief of Defender Publications, Inc., we join his legion of friends, patrons and readers in wishing him Godspeed... well assured that his outstanding journalistic acumen which Memphis and the entire nation has come to recognize... will continue to blaze new trails in the media of mass communications.

By his leaving... we are pleased to welcome our new chief, personable Lutrelle F. Palmer... who comes to us with a brilliant record as a scholar, a writer, a journalist who is a candidate for the Ph.D. degree... taking up the mantle laid down by his predecessor... assured, too, that under his dynamic leadership the City of Memphis and its citizens, are destined to reckon with the forthright and forceful manner with which he has pledged to utilize the precepts of TSD in bringing news to Memphis and the Mid-South.

Mrs. Palmer, the former Miss Adamae Barnes of Chicago, and children Lutrelle, III - age 6, and Gertrude Christine, age 3, are remaining in Nashville, Tenn. (where Mr. Palmer was the public relations director of Fisk university) until the end of the school term, when they too will take up residence here in the Bluff City.

Reception refreshments consisted of hot and cold canapés, pastries, tea and coffee... served from a beautiful table overlaid with a handsome cut-work cloth, centered with an arrangement of pastel hued snapdragons and other spring blooms.

The occasion was graced also with the presence of Mr. Palmer, who flew in to be on hand to have his first formal meeting with community leaders and citizens whom he will serve.

Wednesday night... the TSD family honored the Wilsons with a supper party at Currie's Club Tropicana... where Mr. Wilson was given a handsome picture of himself - ensconced in a front page of the TSD (the one of the Little Rock fiasco - the story of which reached the far corners of the world...). Defends Liberia's Position On African Unity

Padmore States Country's Case

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Defending Liberia's position on African unity, which has been criticized as being too moderate, Liberian Ambassador to the United States George A. Padmore said in a recent speech that his country was never intended to be a base for a war of retribution against whites and that Liberia tries to distinguish between "the thirst for justice and the thirst for revenge."

Founded in 1822 by American Negroes, Liberia became a haven for all oppressed Negroes but never thrust aside the Bible for the sword, Ambassador Padmore said. He added: "We hold that all men are entitled to justice. We hold that no man is entitled to bring disaster on his neighbors in an insane quest for revenge."

"It is our hope that the Christian precept and practice of forgiveness will run like a silver thread through the dark fabric of the international crisis which looms on today's horizon."

ADDRESSES NURSES

Ambassador Padmore spoke to an overflow crowd at a citation banquet of the Freedmen's Hospital School of Nursing Alumnae Association, held March 14 in Washington, D.C.'s Sheraton-Park hotel.

The banquet was in honor of Miss Clara Elizabeth Beverly, referred to by Liberia's ambassador as "a true example of Florence Nightingale."

Miss Beverly in 1946 was sent to Liberia as senior nurse of a nursing education mission by the State Department's Intercultural Cooperation Division. From 1952 to 1956 she was Liberia's director of nursing education.

President Tubman decorated her a Knight Official of the Liberian Humane Order of African Redemption in 1948.

Liberia proposed recently the formation of "The Associated States of Africa." Comprising this association would be Africa's independent states and dependent territories with fixed independent status. Other non-independent states could join when free.

States associated under the proposal would have a common cultural institution, a regional health authority, a scientific research and training agency and a uniform tariffs and customs convention.

Commenting in an earlier speech on this proposal, Ambassador Padmore said Liberia does not object to federation at all. But valued cultural diversities among the peoples of Africa might make it necessary to wait until "doomsday" for an African federation while opportunities would be lost in the areas where cooperation is possible now, he had stated.

TAKES FRIENDLY ISSUE
In his speech before the nursing association Ambassador Padmore took friendly issue with a criticism that Liberia, despite enormous United States aid, was still one of the most backward nations in Africa and that Liberian statesmen were dragging their feet in the battle for African independence.

"If in the opinion of some critics the declarations made by President Tubman in the past two or three years may seem to have erred on the side of moderation, we do not on that account fall into a posture of groveling embarrassment," Ambassador Padmore said, continuing:

"The only alternative to moderation is nuclear war. . . . Liberia wants liberty and independence for the whole of Africa, but only under conditions which will enable both Africa and the rest of our planet to survive."

"When the brave little group of settlers began their task of nation-building in Liberia, they practiced a form of discrimination as between themselves and the darker peoples of the tribal hinterland. . . . (but) this attitude was taken more in self-defense than out of a desire to bring into existence a new type of colonialism."

" . . . You may be surprised to know that this system was maintained in Liberia during the administration of the early Presidents who were foreign born and not until a son of the soil appeared did a gradual integration program begin."

WANTS UNIFICATION
"Today President Tubman's attitude is not to accept integration alone but complete and outright unification. This policy has been accepted by all the people and Liberians only await the momentum that will be gathered when this snowball, incorporating other avenues such as better health, greater educational facilities and economic progress, starts rolling along."

"The efforts of this handful of brave men to colonize the West Coast of Africa may be compared to the efforts of their white counterparts to colonize Alaska."

"In each case, there were two formidable obstacles. . . . an unfamiliar climate and a daunting remoteness from the homeland. Those who would speak contemptuously of the rate of progress in Liberia would do well to think of Alaska."

In answer to the charge that Liberia, despite American help, is one of the most backward countries in Africa, Ambassador Padmore said that, contrary to what some writers believe, there was no steady flow of economic support from Washington from 1822 onwards. He added:

" . . . No gold rush developed to make Liberia an African Klondike, and the hazardous frontier life of the early settlers was scarcely the material from which attractive advertising folders could be made."

"However, even today Liberia continues to offer 'freedom' but we could not offer freedom plus higher-bracket incomes and brightly-lit, well-developed cities."

LIBERIA LOOKED TO U.S.

"For a very lengthy period of our historical effort at world recognition and adjustment, Liberia looked to the United States for diplomatic shelter in times of extreme emergency, and the backbone of this support was the rallying of the influence of the American Negro."

"This we received and are grateful for. If today you now feel it necessary to condemn that association and be more closely identified with someone else's balldick, it is indeed interesting."

"To such wayward thinkers I feel I am entitled to ask these questions:

"If you now say that we have failed, did not you fail too? How much of the heat and burden of the day did you bear, or are you willing to carry."

"You say to us, 'How little has been accomplished, in spite of all the United States did for you.' Is it not fair for us to rephrase that statement and say, 'How much has been accomplished in spite of all that we were left to do for ourselves?'"

ANSWERS WAYWARD THINKERS

"These wayward thinkers chide Liberia for lagging behind Ghana, Nigeria and other territories of West Africa, both in material development and in political leadership."

"This disparity has become evident, we are told, in spite of the fact that we have enjoyed, in practice though not in theory, the advantage of having been for decades 'virtually an American colony.'"

"If this charge is acceptable at its face value, must the concomitant charge continually be withheld about your failure to send a child to school because the parent does not care to meet the cost of the fees, and the books, yet blame him for not winning the Nobel Prize?"

Ambassador Padmore referred to the best-seller book, "The Ugly American," which depicts Americans attempting to win friends and influence people in foreign lands by emphasizing technological prowess, paying little attention to basic human needs.

LAUDS TRUE AMERICAN
"Then along comes another American," the ambassador said; "a Miss Beverly, who is concerned not with geography but with people; not with transforming the shape of the land, but with transforming the life of the ordinary villager; not with demonstrating the supreme skills of American technology but with satisfying the basic needs of the men and women to whom that technology may mean the difference between prosperity and penury, in many cases between life and death."

"Along comes, in other words, a true American, who says to the people of Liberia, 'Let me help you' but does not add the wounding words, 'since you cannot or will not help yourself.'"

"We are grateful to all such people who link their efforts to ours in the spirit of partnership rather than in exasperated condescension," Ambassador Padmore said.

PROMINENTS ATTEND

Among those seated on the dias from which the ambassador spoke were: Miss Beverly, Attorney George E. C. Hayes, chairman of the District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission; the Rev. Father Nicholas W. Dohoney of Our Lady of Sorrow, West River, Maryland; Mrs. Padmore, the ambassador's wife; Colonel West Hamilton, a member of the District of Columbia Board of Education, and Mrs. Hamilton;

Among the guests on the dias from Freedmen's Hospital were: Dr. Charles E. Burbridge, director; Mrs. Ella J. Younger, director of nurses; and Miss Lucia A. Rapley, president of the Freedmen's Hospital School of Nursing Association.

An informal pool of prominent persons attending the banquet revealed a unanimous favorable opinion of Ambassador Padmore's remarks.

"Do your acting," he says, "but don't get caught at it."

WARREN

By MATTIE BURNETT

Despite the strong winds last Wednesday night the Old Fashioned Garden Club of North Warren had a very large and appreciative audience at its eighth anniversary which was held in the Bradley county high school auditorium.

The program got underway promptly at 8 p. m. and was very informative and quite enjoyable. The members had a table decorated with their own beautiful arrangement of flowers in colors of pink and blue with all the months of the year from January to December. One could tell at a glance just what month was being displayed. The center piece was a thing of beauty. The members were identified by wearing pink and blue carnation corsages. Friends mingled around tables filled with delicious tuna salads, cookies, nuts, candies and other good things to eat. It was indeed a pleasure meeting the nice ladies of the city and chatting with them. They all were charming. Everyone enjoyed themselves. Closing remarks were given by the president, Mrs. Rennie Collins who looked very stunning in a blue suit and a beautiful pink flowered hat. She thanked the members and friends for their very fine cooperation in making this occasion one of the greatest of all anniversaries.

Later the members sang and wished Mrs. Peyton a speedy recovery and presented her with a nice sum of money. Then the hostess, Mrs. Peyton's daughter, Mrs. Essie Bell Moore served the society a delicious repast.

Jane Russell King, daughter of Dock Odum and Sarah Frances King was found dead in her home about mid morning Saturday, March 14. She was taken to McMinnville Medical Clinic, after efforts by the family to revive her failed and was pronounced dead on arrival. Dr. C. T. Stubbfield, examining physician, called the city police and county coroner after examining the child. The odor of whiskey was noticeable which resulted in the examination and autopsy which followed according to acting chief of police, Eugene (Doc) Miller and Coroner Tommy Love.

Officers found an insect poison on the premises. The girl's mother told officers that the youngster and other children had been found using the poison to make mud pies and that she had thrown it to the edge of the yard. Traces of poison were found under and around the house where the children had been playing. Members of the family told officers that the girl awakened about 7 a. m. Saturday and appeared to be in good spirit. She later went back to bed and was found dead when her sister checked because she was sleeping longer than usual.

Dorothy Mae King, sister of the dead girl later signed a statement at police headquarters that a man listed as a resident of Smithville, Tenn., came into the house and sat down on the bed with the girl. He said to have been drinking and had a half-pint of moonshine with him. The man was later arrested on a public drunkenness charge and is being held without bond pending the outcome of the autopsy report.

Funeral service for the child was held at Hiwassee Church of Christ. Burial in Cummings Chapel Cemetery.

Blames Editors In Race Disputes

By IRA LURVEY

EVANSTON, Ill. — (UPI) — The executive editor of the Nashville Tennessean says he feels many southern newspapers "have abused their places of leadership" in reporting southern integration disputes.

"The fact is many newspapers of the South have not led, but have misled and they cannot escape accountability for the consequences," Editor Creve C. Black said.

Black spoke at a seminar on mob violence and race riots at the week-long Ford Foundation-backed Northwestern University short course in crime news analyses and reporting.

Black said that if a publication printed immoderate criticism of the U.S. Supreme Court month after month, it should "hardly be surprised if violence flares when the ultimate showdown comes."

ACCUSES REPORTERS
Another southern newsman said the trouble did not lie merely with the publications, but with their reporters, too.

"Sophistication and objectivity should be criteria for picking newsmen to cover racial flareups," Edward D. Ball, head of the integration-fostered Southern Education Reporting Service, said. "If a reporter is overwhelmed — by one side or the other — the newspaper is the loser."

Black said he believed northern publications sometimes fell into the same pit as southern papers and looked the other way at racial flare-ups in their area.

"But I'm not the kind of southern editor who thinks the south can solve its problems by pointing a finger at the north," he said.

Black said the Tennessean's reporters "were sent out simply to cover the integration-crisis story — not to argue with the demonstrators nor anyone else in support of (the paper's) editorial position."

Ball said newsmen at Clinton, Tenn., eventually found the going so rough they formed a war correspondents club and issued two-sided membership cards which read either "I am for integration" or "I am against integration" depending upon which way you looked at them.

He said most northern newspapers had a "distorted view of the south" and played the integration crisis out of perspective, failing to realize only one-third of the south has any by-racial problem at all.

Resentment over the use of a jointly-owned automobile and the request for a $5 loan led to a quarrel between two brothers and the ultimate shooting of one of them Monday night.

Shot in the affray was O. C. Sanders, a 27-year-old laborer, who told police that his brother, James Washington, 40, chased him from his house and shot him after he asked him for $5.

The gunplay occurred in an alley in the rear of 1848 W. 117th.

Seek Means To Handle Petty Crime Cases
Members of the Woodlawn Business Men's Association this week asked for an interview with Police Commissioner Timothy J. O'Connor to discuss the need for a courtroom in the Hyde Park-Woodlawn area.

In a letter to the police chief the organization said a courtroom was needed so that the many petty crimes which still plague the area, could be prosecuted more quickly with the aid of witnesses in the neighborhood.

The group praised Capt. Joseph J. Healy of the Woodlawn Police Station and his staff for the good job they are performing. They added, however, that such offenses as broken windows, shoplifting and purse snatching still continue and it was these offenses which the business men want handled quickly.

The communication was signed by Sol Bloomberg, chairman; Sid Steele, president, and Stan Mac thew, executive secretary.

Senator Says Teamsters 'Use' Negroes
WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Chairman John L. McClellan of the Senate Rackets Committee urged the federal Civil Rights Commission to investigate evidence that Florida union officials are "exploiting" Negroes in organizing drives.

The Arkansas Democrat referred to committee disclosures that a Miami Teamster official sought to capitalize on the segregation issue to force housing developers into line.

The plan involved the use of union funds to buy a $15,000 home in the name of a Negro and thus thwart sales by the developer to white families who might object to a Negro neighbor.

LETTER TO HOFFA
The scheme was outlined by David Frechette, head of Miami Local 290, in a March, 1958 letter to Teamster boss James R. Hoffa. The committee brought out that Teamster headquarters here sent $15,000 to Miami about two months later.

"This should engage the immediate attention of the Civil Rights Commission and the Justice Department if they want to pursue the exploitation of the minority race," McClellan said.

Sen. Frank Church D-Idaho agreed that the matter was "something which the commission should inquire into."

Cubans Hold American Pilot

HAVANA — (UPI) — The U. S. Embassy reported that Austin F. Young, a private pilot of (3851 S.W. 91st. ave.) Miami, Fla., has been arrested by Cuban revolutionary authorities.

Young was charged with flying followers of ousted dictator Fulgencio Batista out of Cuba for $1,500 each. He also was charged with possessing more than $1,500 in "hot" Cuban currency.

Police said Young smuggled out at least two of Batista's military aides wanted by revolutionary authorities, taking one of them to the Dominican Republic and the other to Florida.

Officials said Young flew a Beechcraft plane and used an open field between Mariel and Baracoa, west of Havana, for his smuggling operations.

Dulles At Island Retreat

HOBE SOUND, Fla. — (UPI) — A cheerful and smiling John Foster Dulles arrived at this millionaire's island retreat Monday to recuperate from treatments for cancer.

The 71-year-old secretary of state appeared completely carefree as he nearly danced down the airplane ramp at West Palm Beach, accompanied by his wife, and entered a limousine for the 40-mile drive home.

Cloudy but 85-degree weather greeted Dulles at the airport in contrast to the light rain that fell from murky skies when he left Washington.

O'Kelly Winds Up U. S. Tour

PHILADELPHIA — (UPI) — Irish Republic President Sean T. O'Kelly left for New York Monday on the first leg of his trip home.

The 76-year-old fiery Irish leader wound up his three day stay here by attending two dinners given in his honor and warning that the "Irish government must be allowed to declare its policy without interference by anybody attempting to use force."

"It would be a poor government that would allow any other authority to assert itself in the country and take the rightful authority from the elected government of the Irish people," he said.

O'Kelly made his remarks before addressing some 2,000 persons at the Philadelphia Irish center.

Navy To Transmit Via The Moon

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Navy will begin sending radio messages between Washington and Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, this year by bouncing them off the moon, the publication Washington Science Trends said today.

The publication, which has made reliable forecasts in the past, said the Navy now was testing and evaluating its plan to use the moon as a "passive relay station."

Using the moon to reflect radio signals, Science Trends said, "is expected to provide greater reliability and anti-jamming capacity."

Pope, Margaret May Meet This Month

VATICAN CITY. — (UPI) — Britain's Princess Margaret probably will be received by Pope John XXIII when she visits Rome in April with the Queen Mother Elizabeth, high Vatican sources said today.

The Princess broke a 50-year-old British precedent in 1949 when Pope Pius XII granted her an audience. That visit created a stir in Protestant Britain where the Princess is a member of the Anglican church.

A second visit by a British princess to a Pope would be unprecedented and might stir up another outburst in London.

Rules Against U. S. Troops In Japan

TOKYO — (UPI) — Judge Akio Date ruled today that the presence of American troops in Japan violates this country's U. S. fostered "no war" constitution.

Date, dismissing charges against seven leftist rioters in the Tokyo district court, said the U. S.-Japanese security treaty which calls for the stationing of American forces in Japan is unconstitutional.

A justice ministry spokesman immediately dismissed Date's ruling as "absolutely unacceptable." He pointed out that the Japanese courts have upheld the constitutionality of the security pact in ruling after ruling.

Senate Passes Jobless Aid Bill

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Senate Wednesday approved a House passed bill extending the temporary unemployment pay program for three months. But it tacked on a new feature that raised doubts about the future of the program.

The Senate sent the bill back to the House which quickly ordered a Senate-House conference committee to try to work out a compromise in time for Congress to start its 10-day Easter recess at the close of business Thursday.

Before approving the measure, the Senate adopted an amendment by Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn. It would add an estimated 100,000 persons to the jobless that would draw emergency benefits under the House version of the legislation.

Bare Nasser-Kassem Parley

BEIRUT, Lebanon. — (UPI) — Lebanese Premier Rashid Karami disclosed that President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic and Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem held a secret meeting in Lebanon.

Karami said the meeting was held "some time ago" — he did not give a specific date — to discuss "questions of mutual interest." He said the Lebanese government is preparing a communique on the talk.

No further details of the meeting were available immediately. Iraqis have accused the United Arab Republic of fostering the revolt in Mosul, in northern Iraq, earlier this month.

Nasser has delivered a number of recent speeches blasting Iraq and Kassem for communist alliances.

Sentence Liz Duncan April 3

VENTURA, Calif. — (UPI) — Elizabeth Duncan, 54, found sane at the time she hired two men to kill her pregnant daughter-in-law, will be formally sentenced to death April 3.

Judge Charles F. Blackstock, who ruled the Santa Barbara matron sane, will pass the sentence committing her to death in the gas chamber and on the same day also will hear arguments by her attorney for a new trial.

Mrs. Duncan, who along with her son, Frank, 30, heard the sanity ruling with composure in the same courtroom where a jury of eight women and four men convicted her of the for hire murder of Frank's wife, Olga, 30, and then condemned her to death, said she thought her appeal would be successful.

"I think I have a good chance (for a new trial)," Mrs. Duncan said.

Castro Set For Visit Here Next Month

NEW ORLEANS — (UPI) — Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro will come to the United States next month to address the American Society of Newspaper Editors without any opposition from the state department.

George Healy, Jr., president of the ASNE, said that he had conferred with Roy R. Rubottom, Jr., assistant secretary of state for Latin American affairs, and received assurances that the society had "every right to invite Castro here."

Healy said that "to the best of my knowledge" the Cuban revolutionary leader is planning to be in Washington for the ASNE annual meeting in April. He made the statement after he was told that Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) had demanded that the State Department make clear how it stands on invitations to Castro from private organizations and individuals.

Living Costs Steady During February

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The government reported today that living costs in February remained unchanged — slightly below the all-time record high.

The Labor Department's consumer price index, considered one of the most reliable barometers of inflation, registered 123.8 in January.

This means it cost $12.38 to buy the same goods and services which cost $10 about 10 years ago.

The index has moved within a range of two-tenths of one per cent for the past seven months. This is regarded as unusually steady considering the successive monthly increases for more than a year before the price plateau was reached.

Sees Little Hope For Tibetans

SANTEE FE, N. M. — (UPI) — World Traveler Lowell Thomas, Sr., one of the few westerners ever to see Tibet, holds little hope for the remote land's revolt against the Chinese.

"The chances are all against them throwing off the red yoke," he told United Press International Tuesday.

Thomas said it will be an extremely difficult problem for the warring tribesmen to get weapons from the outside world. He called tribesmen of eastern Tibet "some of the most warlike in the world," in spite of the strong peaceful force of the buddhist religion over other sections of the land.

The news commentator-author and his son, Lowell Jr., were invited to Tibet 10 years ago — a rare act by the government whose policy is to forbid foreigners.

"As far as I know we were the last Americans in there," Thomas said in an interview.

The JACKSON Scene

by Anna C. Cooke

Here's hoping your Easter was a most enjoyable one. With the season of Spring issuing in such lovely weather, I'm sure you had no trouble showing off that Easter finery. Churches are usually filled to their capacity on one of the greatest feasts in the church year and children, introduced to the true meaning of Easter through programs in which they participate. Many of them were making their stage debut, but you will have to admit they are cute.

SCHOOL DEVOTIONS
"The Call to Righteousness" was the theme used during Holy Week when a series of programs were presented in the Jackson city schools. These devotional periods were sponsored by the Interdenominational Ministers' Wives council. Speakers at Merry High school included Rev. U. Z. McKinnon, v. W. G. Terry and Rev. J. Paige. Rev. M. L. Easley, Rev. Relf and Rev. C. F. Odum were speakers at Lincoln.

At South Jackson were Revs. J. M. Cunningham, J. P. Jones, and J. A. Adams and J. Atwater and others spoke at Washington-Douglas school. Students of Jackson received much inspiration from these talks.

LANE CAREER CONFERENCE

The main speaker for the occasion in the morning sessions was Dr. Garret of Ohio State. Dr. J. Jowers, professor of sociology, was speaker in the afternoon sessions. Departmental meetings were held on chosen careers.

College students had the opportunity of hearing the college band in concert on their day and high school students enjoyed the music of the Merry High school band on the day set aside for high school students. Another feature of the conference was the Science Fair which was set up in the I. B. T. T. Science building.

General chairman of the committee for the career conference was Mrs. Essie M. Perry, department of education.

Many Jacksonians and teachers from Madison county journeyed to Nashville, Tenn., on the week end of March 21 to attend the Tennessee Education congress meeting.

which was held on the campus of A. and I. State university. Another long week end was enjoyed by those connected with the school system last week for Easter vacation. It is the last break before the close of school.

Many activities have already begun closing. Annual programs given at Merry high are the NHA fashion show of April 10, the music festival, featuring the glee club and the band on April 17 and the senior play on May 1. Keep these dates in mind and watch the paper for the other important events.

CLUB DOINGS
The Civic Pride club has been making the most of the pleasures of their business and fellowship meetings during the months of February and March. The ladies were delighted to share in the wonderful hospitality of Mrs. Myrtle Monroe who served as hostess at the meeting which was held at the Berean Church fellowship room. The theme used was "Patriotic Progress."

Each member gave a quotation of Lincoln's and beautiful prizes went to ladies answering the highest number of questions about Lincoln.

Then came Mrs. Marie Penn and Mrs. Savannah Randolph riding in on the wings of the swift March wind with most enjoyable entertainments for everyone. A special feature at the meeting of Mrs. Randolph's was that the music rendered by Miss Freddie L. Clark and Miss Romania Robinson. Mrs. Martha Theus of Chicago, was guest. While in the city, Mrs. Theus was the house guest of Mrs. V. F. Walker on Hayes ave., who entertained with an appetizing brunch.

The next meeting for the Civic Pride club is scheduled to be with Mrs. Ada McNeely, president of the club.

The last meeting of the New Idea Club was held in the lovely home of President and Mrs. C. A. Kirkendall with Mrs. Kirkendall serving as hostess. The theme used at this meeting was "Easter Bonnets" which was a surprise game introduced by Mrs. McKissack. The game was in the form of a puzzle of hats. The prize for winning the game went to Mrs. Manning.

The dining table was most beautiful set up with a buffet supper which was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone present.

Fishermen Head For Lakes As Spring Returns
Fishing activity throughout West Tennessee is picking up as the usual spring rush begins. Crappie are being taken daily at Reelfoot and Kentucky Lakes. However, the low water and high winds have made it very unfavorable for the fishermen in some areas in recent weeks.

The water of Kentucky Lake is scheduled to begin rising this week according to TVA reports, providing there is not too much rain. This should send the crappie into the shallows.

Stripers are being caught on crayfish and small spinners in the areas where spring runs occur. Indian Creek, Big Sandy River and Beech, Buffalo and Duck river in Kentucky Lake, all are areas where excellent stripe fishing can be found if the weather and water is right. Large strings are being caught daily in the Saltito area.

Many of the State lakes are in good shape and providing excellent fishing for this time of year. Managers on most of these lakes have been working all winter to improve the fishing in their respective lakes. Spawning areas have been marked at Fisherville, Browne, Maple and Carroll Lakes.

Brush shelters have been built and undesirable fish removed from Carroll Lake. Maps have been made showing spawning areas, creek beds and stumps, and will be available to fishermen. The lake can be obtained from the lake managers of the various lakes.

Striped Bass Tagged At Kentucky Lake

Biologists of the Game and Fish commission hope to tag approximately 4,000 white (stripe) bass on Kentucky lake during the Spring spawning run. Objectives of the study are (1) to determine the extent of individual white bass population (2) to determine where major runs occur (3), obtain general information on the abundance of the white bass population that is being harvested by fishermen, and (4) to obtain general life-history information which is necessary for sound management of any species.

The fish will be taken primarily in hoop nets which will be marked and attended most of the time during the day.

These studies will begin this week and continue through the months of April or until 4,000 strippers have been tagged, according to E. S. Cobb and John Conder, biologists in charge of the project.

All white bass tagged on Kentucky lake this year will bear pink tags with the letter "E" in front of the numbers. Fish will be tagged in different areas up and down the lake. Fishermen are requested to be on the alert for fish tags and return them promptly, giving date and location of the catch.

When a number of fishermen turn in tags a pattern takes shape which reveals the life history of the fish. From this information the technicians can make sound recommendations for management, thus providing better fishing.

Order Golf Vacation For Ike

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower's doctor has advised him to take a vacation in a warm climate and get some exercise.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty reported this Monday when asked whether the President would make his customary trip to Augusta, Ga., next week.

Hagerty said White House Physician Maj. Gen. Howard McCord and other presidential staff members have advised the Chief Executive to take a break from official routine.

The President usually goes to Augusta each year just after the masters' golf tournament at Augusta's National Golf club. This year's tourney is scheduled to end Sunday.

"I sincerely hope he can go and I think he'd like to go," Hagerty told reporters. "He needs some warm climate and some exercise which he has not been able to get. Dr. Snyder thinks so."

Eisenhower played golf for the first time in four months during a trip, however, Hagerty said.

"Fowlkes, Fowlkes!" was the cry of more than 2,000 spectators as they watched the faculty basketball team whack the student squad by a score of 46 to 36.

The faculty team with Charley Tarpley, an ex-student at UCLA, as coach, was undoubtedly captained by William Fowlkes. The faculty line-up was Fowlkes, Carr, Griffin, Lomex Jordan, Alexander, Martin, Durr, Thompson and Brown.

The crowd was thrilled as football Coach Fowlkes shot from every angle and faked with most of them. The faculty captain was a high-point man with 32. Otis Brown was second with eight points.

Mr. Griffin must be commended for the sensational 2-points he made from near the middle of the court after recovering a scramble. Nearly off balance he made a terrific underhand basket for his two points.

The student team, coached by John Tenort, included Foster Adams, Felton Earls, William Higgins, Paul Robinson, Samuel Lusk, William Wilks, Roy Cheatem, Arfield.

The half-time count was 16 to 15 as close as the students ever came after the middle of the second quarter.

This week I have selected Miss Milma Hall for the student spotlight on the Fayette campus.

The 16-year-old daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Dennis Hall, Wilma is a junior and active in the NHA, the Art, Library and History Study clubs and a cheerleader.

As a sophomore, she represented her class at the Royal court during the eleventh annual homecoming.

Asked her opinion on going steady, she replied: "I don't think that teenagers should go steady. What will they do in the future if they begin so young?"

After completing her high school work, she plans to enter Tennessee A and I State university, but as yet she is undecided on a major.

Let us salute Miss Wilma Maurice Hall!

"College" is on the lips of many of the seniors at this season, and there is considerable talk about these schools: Lane college, Jackson; Tennessee State, Nashville; City college, Chicago; LeMoyne, St. Louis; and Henderson Business colleges.

EASTER'S GONE
With the Easter week end over we can at last settle down from the breath-taking enthusiasm that we always fall victim to, whether a child or grown-up.

Children are always excited beyond normal control over new clothes and the thrill of gaily colored Easter eggs and adults are excited over the bills. It goes without saying that it all adds up to the spice and variety needed to make life meaningful.

SPRING DANCE
Now that spring has officially commenced, the young men's fancy, according to the adage, turns to love. One might be inclined to go along with that statement, if he attended the Charmette ball given here last week and sponsored by the local chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority.

Even the small fry tripped the light fantastic as Mr. Boyd and his Sedulous Satellites provided the musical background.

Miss Delphine Tyus and Andrew C. Durham, as "Miss Charm" and "Mr. Esquire," led the festivity with a special dedication of "Sixteen Candles." Miss Nancy Pierson, who was "Miss Charmette" of 1958, presented gifts to Miss Tyus and Mr. Durham and the entire court of attendants.

Points on charm and good manners were given by Mrs. J. C. Brent and Mr. Boyd. Mrs. Mary R. Lake was chairman of the affair which will remain in the memory for a long time.

TYPING CONTESTANTS
Misses Jo Ann Bursley and Peggy King have returned to their classes after having spent two days in the capital city competing with high school students from all parts of the state in a typing contest on the campus of Tennessee A and I State university.

Both of the young typists are students at Lauderdale High school and were accompanied by their instructors, Mrs. B. Pierce and Mrs. M. Johnson.

MUSING: In a way youth of today are creative pioneers. They need vision, imagination and courage. They need vision so that they can see things as they really are. They need imagination in order to dream greatly of things that may be. And they will need courage in order to act boldly to make the dreams come true.

Steffens said: "Nothing in the world is as it should be. Young people must do it over... and do it right."

We have only scratched the surface of knowledge and accomplishments. Tomorrow's inventions will make our present ones look as elementary as a safety pin.

Dear Carlotta:

The other day I heard a boy say that he was looking for a nice girl, and then he complained that all of the nice girls were either married or already dated up.

But there are plenty of nice girls, and he needs only to look around to find them. Of course there are many who laugh at "off color" jokes and go in for heavy dating, and they do get many dates. But I would not spoil my reputation by acting like them.

What I would like to know is: Are there any nice boys left? Ann Dear Ann:

Sure there are some nice boys left — thousands of them, so don't give up. It is just a case of nice people finding each other. Of course a lot depends on the kind of people you have in your particular community. You are right to stick to your ideals, and it certainly will pay dividends.

Keep looking, and the right boy will turn up one of these days. Good luck!

RAINBOW TEA

The P.T.A. of Manassas High School gave a superb tea in the school's cafeteria last week. The setting for the occasion was beautiful with everything pointing to the theme of the "rainbow."

A program was provided with the following persons participating: Eleanor Moore, Lenora Thomas, Ernestine Harris, Annie Gray, Joyce Gatlin, Patricia McDaniels, Lizzie Patterson and Joyce Ann Vaulx. These people presented vocal solos, instrumental solos, and duets which were enjoyed by all.

During the fashion show, several school students participated as well as members of the Manassas faculty. In the middle line were: Edward Lewis, III, Glenda Taylor-Hamilton, Marquelyn Jackson, Lincoln Elementary, Sandra Price, Hamilton, Debra Robinson, Oliver and Oscar Sueing, Linda Faye Bannen, Frederick and Theresa Shackleford, Kitty Collins, and Lynne Ulen.

In the teenage fashions were: Rosa Wilks, Ernize Taylor-Hamilton, Inell Jones and Countess Johnson.

The adult models were members of the faculty, Miss Sheridan Hicks, math teacher at Manassas and Mrs. Ernestine Brownlee, an instructor of the fourth grade. Her daughter also performed with her.

Mrs. Ritta Smith, and Miss Jewell Gentry served as narrators for the show.

The tea was enjoyed by all who attended and each one received an evening of cultural enjoyment. Thanks to all who made this occasion possible.

CHOIR AT HOSPITAL

The Manassas Senior Glee club performed beautifully at the Veterans' Administration hospital last week during their annual Holy Week Chapel services. The choir was quite an asset to the services which were very inspirational.

Selections presented were: "Psalm 150," "He Never Said A Mumbly Word," and "Hear Our Humble Prayer."

The choir, under the capable direction of Mrs. Bobbie B. Jones, performed beautifully during these services. The entire service was broadcast throughout the hospital and each patient who had tuned in at that particular time, received much inspiration from the service. This is only one way that they have of appreciating fine music by various groups.

Some of the members attending were Joyce Gatlin, Ernestine Harris, Dorothy Poole, Henri Sanders, Beverly Williams, Maggie Gibbs, Shirley Harrison, Marie Franklin, Earline Houston, Edna Madison, Georgetown Bland, Fannie Kirk and Faye Coburn.

SPOTLIGHT — Today's spotlight turns to "Mr. Science" himself, John Carlos Harris.

John who is the stepson of Nicholas Oliver resides at 1584 Short. He is a member of the junior class where he serves as the Junior class president. He is a member of the 1.5 homeroom class with Prof. O. T. Peoples serving as its instructor. He is vice president of 11-5 and a diligent worker in the class.

Mr. Harris's schedule is full of activities and just a few of them around Manassas are: president of the science club, member of the Ole Timer's club, the Red Cross and a member of the Spanish department. He speaks Spanish well and stands as an example of well voiced Spanish student.

Satisfying his curiosity he built a "6-3" rocket which he plans to enter in the Science Fair April 6. George Robinson is chairman of this event. John hopes to win first place in the fair and he is working very hard to surpass his competitors.

He is now working on another rocket. In his spare time he likes to read and relax. He never plays any games of sport and relates that he never has the time. He has a small lab in his home where he works all hours of the day when not at school. He is quite an ambitious lad and aspires to become a scientist.

His hobbies include swimming, attending movies and working in his lab. He doesn't find time for dating girls because his schedule is too full, but will when he has the time.

He plans to enter college after graduation but does not have the one directly in his mind. He is presently majoring in the field of science and all hopes are on his career.

BAND AND CHOIR CONCERT — Congratulations to today's personality, J. Carlos Harris. May you have complete success in your chosen field. My your scientific

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Chairman John L. McClellan of the Senate Rackets Committee urged the federal Civil Rights Commission to investigate evidence that Florida union officials are "exploiting" Negroes in organizing drives.

The Arkansas Democrat referred to committee disclosures that a Miami Teamster official sought to capitalize on the segregation issue to force housing developers into line.

The plan involved the use of union funds to buy a $15,000 home in the name of a Negro and thus thwart sales by the developer to white families who might object to a Negro neighbor.

Need Definition Of Liberty, Says Writer

By EDGAR T. STEWAR

In these days of civil rights crusades when all kinds of definitions are being promulgated as to what are civil rights and when civil and political rights are being confused, it might do well to take a look at liberty.

The shortest definition I know is, liberty is freedom. It is, however, as important to know what it does not mean as it is to know what it does mean.

Liberty does not mean the right to do as you please regardless to its effect on the rights and privileges of others.

The Declaration of Independence placed liberty among the inalienable rights of men which the government has no right to deprive them of. It said "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

The first 10 amendments (called the bill of rights) to the United States Constitution prohibits the United States government from depriving any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law.

The 14th Amendment to the United States prohibits the states from depriving any person within their jurisdiction of life, liberty, or property without due process of law or deny them equal protection of the law.

We might say that liberty under United States law means not only the right to not be put in prison unlawfully, but the right to develop one's self, enjoy all of one's faculties and use them in ways to live and work where he chooses, follow the type of work he wants, etc. as long as his activities are lawful and don't interfere with the rights of others.
